Always There Home Care in Plainville, a private duty home care agency licensed to provide services to families throughout Connecticut, has been servicing the community for over 13 years. Located at 35 Tomlinson Ave., Always There Home Care is committed to providing clients with professional nurse-supervised care in the comfort of their own homes or in facilities. They deliver individualized services seven days a week from four hours to 24 hours a day. They provide free services to clients and families that strengthen and enrich the care provided, including RN supervision, care coordination between providers and facilities, client advocacy in hospitals and facilities, light handyman tasks and weekly updates to all parties involved in a client's care. They also guarantee accountability and peace of mind for clients and their families. "Always There distinguishes itself in the market by careful hiring and screening to attract and retain the best caregivers, the ongoing education, support and supervision of its employees by an RN, and individualizing client care," said Regina McNamara, president and owner. Always There Home Care has experienced, professional and well trained Certified Nursing Assistants and Home Health Aides. The nurse-supervised caregivers provide care in many settings including private homes, assisted living facilities, skilled facilities and hospitals. "Each client has an individualized care plan which ensures that he/she receives consistent high quality care and services that allow him/her to safely remain in his/her own environment," according to the Always There Home Care website.

Navigating home care options can be confusing and complicated so Always There Home Care breaks it down so it is easy to understand in order for the best care decision to be made. They explain the two types of home care, private duty home care and Medicare-certified home care. They explained Medicare Home Health is a term used to refer to Medicare-certified agencies that provide services paid for by Medicare. And they explain Hospice Care as a special concept of care designed to provide comfort and support to patients and their families when a life-limiting illness no longer responds to cure-oriented treatments; it is covered by Medicare. Always There Home Care has been rooted in the community since 2007 and was founded by McNamara. McNamara's healthcare career has spanned over two decades. She was chief operating officer and chief executive officer of Home Care Incorporated, as well as vice president of nursing/patient care for Bristol Hospital. McNamara holds a BSN from Villanova University, as well as an MSN in Community Health Nursing from Yale and an MPH in Health Administration from Yale. She is a Wharton Nurse Executive Fellow. "Partnerships and joint ventures with senior communities and organizations allows elderly to safely age in place with dignity," McNamara said. "I am an ardent believer in preserving the dignity and independence of seniors and providing peace of mind to their families." On top of having a very comprehensive and detailed website the company does utilize social media sites like Facebook.
